Description

Anonymous Italian painter active between the 19th and 20th century Landscape with moored boat | oil painting on panel This painting by an anonymous painter active between the 19th and 20th century presents a peaceful and evocative scene with a boat as the central element. In the foreground, lush vegetation and rocky terrain occupy the lower part of the painting, suggesting a coastline or elevated shoreline. The brushstrokes are quite defined in this area, outlining the leaves and rocks with some detail. In the centre of the composition, a sailboat with a yellow ochre sail immediately catches the eye. The sail is lowered or partially folded, suggesting that the boat is stationary or about to moor. The shape of the hull and the single mast with the triangular lateen sail indeed suggest a type of boat
