Description

Rare coffee table model 713, designed by Théodore Waddell and produced by Cassina in the 1970s. A masterpiece of modular design, this iconic piece is based on a geometric structure in anodized aluminum, at the crossroads of art and architecture. The tempered glass top highlights the sophisticated assembly system imagined by Waddell, a true visible skeleton of the table. Combining visual lightness and constructivist precision, this creation is in line with the great classics of radical Italian design, where the form follows a rigorous and experimental thought. Excellent condition of the beveled glass top, Top dimension: 100 cm Height: 44 cm
