Description

Oil painting on cardboard signed lower left Cas. Heymans (slightly erased). Measuring 24.5cm x 21cm. Depicting Two Gleaners painted around 1920. Casimir Heymans, 1893-1984, Belgian painter, engraver and draftsman. He was the older brother of Karel Heymans to whom he taught painting. He studied at the Academy of Brussels under H. Richir and J. Delville and at the Hoger Instituut in Antwerp under J. De Bruycker and Is. Opsomer. In 1929, at the intercession of Opsomer, he made a trip to America with Achille Van Sassenbrouck and in 1930 with Frans Schuerweghs. He was also friends with Marten Melsen. He produced views of ports and the Scheldt, urban landscapes, and rural and fairground scenes. Seriously injured during the First World War, he had to relearn how to work
