Description

A testament to the refinement of the Victorian era, this extending table in solid and veneered mahogany embodies the elegance and expertise of English craftsmen in the second half of the 19th century. Designed to combine aesthetics and functionality, it fits perfectly into distinguished interiors where furniture becomes a true work of art. Its solid top, edged with a delicately worked molded belt, reveals an ingenious system of extensions allowing the table to be adapted to the needs of its users. With retractable legs, it offers remarkable stability once the table is extended. Resting on an octagonal shaft with a collar, the structure of the table extends harmoniously into a tripod base, finished with finely carved volute legs. A subtle blend of utility and refinement, designed to last through the ages with
