Description

This pretty iridescent green real beetle landed on a leaf to be immortalized. The chain is attached to it, it is a necklace with an old-style spring ring clasp. Naturalized scarabs with their bright colors were very fashionable mounted in jewelry in the 19th century. Their shimmering chitin elytra retain their color and stand the test of time. This necklace, made of a bronze-type alloy, has a soft-colored patina, similar to that of autumn leaves. From beginning 20th century, around 1910.Perfect conditionLength 49cmDimensions pendant 3.7cm x 3.7cm.Weight 8g
