Description

Charming and comfortable occasional chair from the end of the 18th century in unstained cherry (wild cherry) and with an openwork back, saber legs, seat upholstered with a woven tapestry with a floral motif on a red background, structured with a sausage. This beautiful piece can be useful, easy to place and ornamental in a good "Neo-Classical" style. The grain of this wood is tight and solid, unparasitized (cherry heart). The wonderful and very neat carving of the back, the shape of the back like the seat giving a certain and appreciable comfort for a seat where one can remain seated in front of one's computer to work ... Solid in structure and without parasites, this beautiful piece has everything to fulfill its function, elegance and maneuverability ... This seat is also in good condition and solid ...
