Description

Country scene in the spirit of the Barbizon School - second half of the 19th century. This oil on canvas depicts an intimate and touching pastoral scene: a shepherd accompanied by his dog watches over a flock of sheep in front of a sheepfold with patinated walls. With its peaceful atmosphere and unfussy realism, this work fully evokes the spirit of the Barbizon School, the movement born in France in the 19th century that brought together artists eager to depict nature and rural life with truth and sensitivity. Treated in a soft, earthy palette, the scene is bathed in a diffuse, natural light, accentuating the authenticity of the captured moment. 65 x 54 without frame 78 x 68 with frame Indistinctly signed lower right. On its original canvas and stretcher. Excellent condition.
