

Pair Of 18th Century Religious Glass Fixtures, Louis XV Period, Virgin And Child

1 200 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Glass

Length : 35

Height : 42,5

Description

Rare pair of 18th-century religious reverse glass paintings, dating from the Louis XV or Louis XVI period. One depicts the Education of the Virgin with her mother Saint Anne, and the other shows the Virgin Mary with the Infant Jesus. They are of very fine quality and are exquisitely executed. The reverse glass painting technique is particularly delicate and requires real mastery, as the subject is painted in reverse on the back of the glass. This method gives the artwork a very luminous effect. There are a few tiny areas where the material has flaked off due to the age of the pieces, but nothing serious. Dimensions with frames: 42.5 cm x 35 cm Visible image size: 33 cm x 25 cm While it is possible to separate them, I believe it would be a shame to do so. Finding a pair of reverse glass paintings that have survived

Dealer

Apollon Fine Art

Tableaux et objets d'art

Mobile : 0634127871

Limoges 87000

and reached us nearly 300 years after their creation is truly rare. Voici la traduction en anglais : The photos were taken in natural light. Carefully packaged. Shipping costs are the responsibility of the buyer. I remain at your disposal for any further information or additional photos.