Description

1 Description of the work: This copper sculpture represents a stylized, almost abstract female figure in a meditative or maternal posture. The full, sensual forms evoke fertility and inner strength, while the smooth, curved surfaces capture the light, giving the work an almost sacred presence. 2. Artistic tendencies: This work is part of the modernist movement, with a strong influence of cubism and organic abstraction. It also recalls the formal research of Brancusi or Henry Moore. 3. Biography of Jannu: Jannu is a contemporary Australian sculptor whose work explores human and organic forms through bronze. Fascinated by the female body and ancestral archetypes, he develops a refined aesthetic, between abstraction and figuration. His work is imbued with spirituality and sensuality,
