Description

Elegant

pair of small mirrors, made of finely carved and lacquered Swiss pine wood with lean tempera and partly embellished with decorations in pure gold leaf. The frames of the mirrors are enriched with vegetal scrolls, continuing also on the cymatium, which ends with a refined chalice. The presence of the gilded decorations and their articulation give these mirrors a great sense of elegance and refinement, making them objects capable of enriching any environment with taste and class. The mirrors are also original and contemporary with the frames. Tuscan manufacture of the neoclassical period, around the end of the
