Description

Capture the golden hush of the countryside with Twilight Haystacks, an original oil painting by Joan Condins (1929-2001). Painted with expressive brushwork and deep tonal harmony, this Impressionist landscape features towering haystacks set against a softly glowing sky--evoking the rich tradition of Impressionist painters such as Claude Monet, Camille Pissarro, and Alfred Sisley, who famously painted rural haystack scenes in varying light.Condins' use of light and color reflects the classic techniques of these masters, bringing a timeless atmosphere to this serene work. Painted with a brush (not palette knife) on canvas, the composition features warm earth tones, balanced contrast, and gestural brushwork that reveals the artist's hand. The painting is housed in an elegant silver-leaf wood
