Description

Beautiful And Rare French Pendule/Mantel Clock With Thermometer Circa 1870. The wooden case veneered with one of the first type of simulated tortoiseshell and ivory celluloid, it is not possible to see the difference between real tortoiseshell and our clock. It is very rare to find this type of clock still with the original glass dome and stand of the same make. The movement is completely cleaned and has the brocot escapement with jewelled pallets, seconds hand and is in fully working order, still with the original pendulum, striking on a bell every 30 minutes, both the dials are enamel. In beautiful original used condition. 56cm high with glass dome 48cm high without dome 25cm wide 17cm deep. To your information, all the clocks we sell have been fully serviced, this is done in our own workshop. The
