Description

Furniture safe, 19th century in polychrome wood closing a metal chest closed with a key. In the 19th century, this small safe was sealed to the wall thanks to a hole in the back of the furniture. This safe was melted into the interior decoration to deceive. The polychromy is beautiful, we find a fleur-de-lis in the right corner of the door, the other three are missing. We do not have the key to the wooden door, it would need to be redone. But we have the key to the metal chest.
