Description

Important Buddha in carved wood, lacquered then gilded probably made in Vietnam or Cambodia. The sculptor harmoniously sculpted both the folds of the clothes and the smile and the serene face typical of the Buddha. Probably dated from the 20th century, the interest is especially in the mystical, relaxing and very decorative side given its size. Weighs approximately 15 kilos. The porcelain lamps from Japan from Kutani are for sale in separate advertisements like the pair of columns in sheath with faux marble decoration.
