Description

The work represents the emblematic places of Venice: the Grand Canal and the Doge's Palace. On the Grand Canal, a gondola is placed in the foreground. In the background, we see several sailboats. Several characters animate the scene. Everything is bathed in a golden light. The work is painted on panel, in excellent condition. It is signed lower left, in the dark part. It is offered in a magnificent old gilded frame, in very good condition (some lack of gilding on the edge, not visible from the front). The artist Alfred August Felix (Alf) BACHMANN is a German painter born in 1863 in Dirschau. He studied at the Academy of Fine Arts in Königsberg (now Kaliningrad, Russia). He moved to Munich in 1891 and died in Ambach in 1956. Bachmann is famous for his views of Venice, Istanbul but also
