Description

Rare and sumptuous Art Deco teapot of good size in polychrome porcelain, from a porcelain factory in Czechoslovakia, like many beautiful pieces of Art Deco style from this period. Here is a very interesting model of teapot due to its originality of shape with a flattened belly like a gourd but much more and especially due to its superb decoration on both sides with swallows perched on branches. The grip on the lid is also highly original, reminiscent of butterfly wings. * Can be used with 1 litre of tea * The object is in excellent condition if not perfect, it is just to be noted that the links which hold the handles have some weakened strands, but nothing complicated to reinforce, just a small intervention within everyone's reach. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact
