Description
-------------

Antique Sculpture, 1930s, features an Athlete or Warrior with Spear expressing strength and power. The work proposed here is in Antimony Metal made in the first half of the 20th century. Art Deco The sculpture has its original 20th century Green Patina and rests on a beautiful decorated black marble base. The work expressing strength, elegance and physical agility is not signed, but is attributed to Demètre Chiparus (1886-1947). Chiparus was born in Romania. As a young man, he stayed in Italy, where he studied and was taught by the Florentine sculptor Raffaello Romanelli. He then moved to France and studied at the École des Beaux-Arts in Paris. His teachers were Jean Boucher and Antonin Mercié. In 1914, Chiparus began exhibiting his bronze or antimony sculptures at
