

19th Century Victorian Period Pine Iron Bound Traveling Trunk

1 400 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Pine

Width : 89

Height : 62

Depth : 55

Description

This 19th-century English pine and iron-bound shipping trunk dates to the mid-Victorian period, circa 1870. It features a superb presentation that highlights its distinctive and versatile design, showcasing a desirable aged patina and remaining in good original condition. The stained pine exhibits fine grain interest and deep caramel hues, while the trunk is bound throughout with cast iron straps and braced with sturdy pine supports. Please note that the lock is not functioning, and the key is absent. The painted interior offers generous storage space, making it practical for various uses. The trunk is equipped with a pair of thick leather handles for easy transport and stands upon four small iron castors, set at each corner for enhanced mobility. The hardware is original and in great shape, while the original leather

Dealer

Anthony Short Antiques

18C & 19C Fine Period Antiques, Decorative Furniture & Works of Art

Tel : 00 44 7595603348

Mobile : 00 44 7595603348

Market Square

Petworth GU28 0AH

handles and straps are also well-preserved. The top corners are protected with beautifully contoured hardware that wraps around for added durability. The hardwood slats are similarly protected with classic hardware. This fascinating antique chest boasts a superb appearance and a functional interior. It features solid joints and construction and is delivered ready for use in your home. The exceptional craftsmanship of this trunk makes it a true treasure--both well-built and aesthetically pleasing, it is a useful addition to any space.