Description

Oil on panel | Framed size: 121 x 100 cm | Professionally cleaned | Ornate gilt frame (7 cm) A stunning floral still life by the Belgian painter Jean Baptiste Coene (1859-1946), renowned for his intricately detailed compositions and classical technique. This elegant work depicts a sumptuous bouquet of gladioli in full bloom, delicately arranged in a pewter pitcher. A deep blue ceramic vase and a bowl of grapes complete the central composition, all set against a warm and atmospheric background. Coene's mastery of light and texture gives the scene a vitality and depth characteristic of late 19th- and early 20th-century Flemish painting. Executed in oil on panel and recently professionally cleaned, the painting is presented in a 7 cm wide ornate gilt frame. Signed lower left: JB Coene.
