Its timeless design and history make it a valuable addition to any luxury watch collection. Dimensions: Case diameter: 24 mm. History of the Cartier Must Vendôme: The Cartier Must collection was introduced in the 1970s as an innovative proposal to democratize luxury, offering exclusive designs to a broader market. The Vendôme model, launched in the 1980s and 1990s, quickly became an icon thanks to its round case and sophisticated details.

Equipped with quartz movement, this model combines tradition, precision, and elegance, securing its place among Cartier's most emblematic watches. The Must collection was a milestone in the brand's history, bringing haute horlogerie to new audiences without compromising on quality and design. This Vendôme watch embodies that philosophy, becoming an essential piece for those who value history and luxury.
