Description

Elegant English mahogany chaise longue - 19th century Rare and of great distinction, this 19th century English chaise longue seduces with the balance of its lines and the timeless charm of its materials. Made of solid mahogany and mahogany veneer, it rests on four turned legs mounted on original casters, testifying to the refined craftsmanship typical of Victorian furniture. Its seat and back are covered in an antique green velvet which, despite its use, retains a beautiful presence. A light restoration could magnify this already very decorative piece. Its elegance and enveloping shape make it an ideal piece for a classic or eclectic interior.
