Description

Juan Clara and Ayats (1875-1958) Solid bronze sculpture on marble base Overall dimensions: 30 x 17 x 15 cm Elegant patinated bronze sculpture by the renowned Catalan sculptor Juan Clara i Ayats, an artist active between the late 19th and mid-20th centuries, famous for his costumbrista-inspired compositions and scenes from everyday life, especially his depictions of children full of tenderness and movement. The work, cast in solid bronze, demonstrates the artist's mastery in capturing expressiveness and anatomical detail, distinctive characteristics of his work. The piece rests on a polished solid marble base, which gives stability and elegance to the whole. Signed on the bronze base, this sculpture is an excellent example of Catalan sculpture from the Modernist and Noucentista periods,
