Description

Myquel tandem bicycle. Madrid, Spain, mid-20th century. Requires restoration. Tandem bicycle painted red with the logo of the point of sale on the front (Ciclos Myquel; Palma, 13; Madrid), which has a rear seat designed and thought to be used by a woman (the shape allows wearing a long skirt). In some details, it is reminiscent of the Schwinn of 1970, and it is worth highlighting the quality of the bicycle (it was not for nothing that the store was advertised in the press of the time as "bicycles for kings"), as well as the fact that a similar bicycle is preserved in the funds of the famous Otero. - Dimensions: 62x230x95 cm
