

A Medieval Buckle With A Lioness Or Feline Beast, Circa 12th-13th Century Ad Or Before

350 EUR

Period : Before 16th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Bronze

Description

A large, two-part, tongue-shaped buckle crudely engraved with a fantastical beast motif. The composition of this beast echoes prehistoric cave paintings or chalk hill compositions in the UK. It was found at Whaplode in Lincolnshire near Spalding & Holbeach. Dimensions: 5x4 cm.
