Description

Louis XVI console in molded and carved beech. The console rests on two curved legs joined by a spacer topped with a pine cone. A molded Aleppo breccia marble rests on a belt decorated with a frieze of rudentée arcature as well as a frieze of pearls. The connecting dice are carved with a flower reminiscent of the garlands of acanthus leaves that fall on fluted volute feet. Friezes of bells of campanulas as well as interlacing are added to a foliate ornamentation. The console ends in two lion paws. Louis XVI period. Condition of use. H. 83.5 x W. 100 x D. 40.5 cm
