Description

Oil on canvas signed and dated lower right: E. Ballue, 1881 Beautiful pair of forest landscapes painted with great finesse and sensitivity, characteristic of the 19th-century French landscape school. One of the paintings depicts a forest path bathed in light, animated by a solitary walker; the other illustrates a bucolic riverside scene, where a young figure stands at the edge of the path. The treatment of light, the precision of the foliage and the serenity of the compositions testify to Émile Ballue's talent for capturing the essence of nature. Both works are presented in their original richly carved giltwood frames, in very good condition. Dimensions (each painting):
- Frame: 90 × 79 cm - Canvas: 63 × 52 cm
