Laurent Thomas Vaudoyer at the École des Beaux-arts in Paris. He was notably architect-voyer of the city of Lyon and the principal builder of the commune of La Guillotière and of the current 3rd arrondissement of Lyon. The church of Notre-Dame Saint-Louis was built from 1842 to 1847 by Christophe Crépet, but according to a plan different from that of our drawing; we present here one of the very first projects of Christophe Crépet for this church. In 1852, La Guillotière was attached to the city of Lyon (of which it now forms the northern part of the 7th arrondissement). Ref. 9-85
