Description

Stunning stained-glass window with a heron fishing on the edge of a pond decorated with palm trees. We can also see a titmouse chasing a butterfly. Made on clear cathedral glass. Wooden frame in good condition, iron frame allowing the whole to be fixed. Exceptional state of preservation. Artist: No signature. Probably a work by Louis-Victor Gesta. Louis-Victor Gesta (1828-1894) was a glass painter from Toulouse, founder of the very famous Gesta stained-glass factory which, according to its founder, decorated between 7,000 and 8,500 churches.
