Founded at 3 and 5 boulevard des Capucines in Paris in 1889, Dai-Nippon is a furniture manufacturing company. Inspired by Chinese and Japanese art, and using materials imported from Asia such as Tonkin mother-of-pearl or Chinese lacquer that it incorporated into its furniture made in France, this company specialized in art objects and furniture related to "Japonism" so dear to the tastes of the time, like Eugène Viardot, L'escalier de cristal, Perret et Vibert... Aesthetes and collectors are seduced by the refinement of a Far
