Description

Period: 19th centuryMaterial: Carved crystalDimensions: 8 cm diameter x 1 cm thickAntique circular medallion in carved glass, dating from the 19th century, featuring a finely detailed relief effigy of a lady from that period. The sculpture shows the elegance of the female portrait characteristic of the century, with a neoclassical or romantic style, very common in decorative or toiletry objects of high society of the time. These types of medallions could be part of wall decorations, reliquaries, table frames or collector's display cases.Condition: It has several visible dents, typical of the passage of time and the fragility of the material. It is recommended to carefully observe the attached photographs for a complete assessment of the condition.box no included
