Franz Xavier Bergmann inherited the business and opened a new foundry in 1900. Many of the bronzes of the 1900s were still made from models from his father's studio. Bergmann is often mistakenly described as a sculptor, but he was not; he owned a foundry. His studios employed many anonymous sculptors on a temporary basis. Bruno Zach commissioned Bergmann to edit and cast some of his works. At the turn of the 19th century, around fifty studios produced Viennese bronzes. "Cold-painted bronze" refers to pieces cast in Vienna and then decorated in several layers with so-called "powder" paint; the know-how for mixing this type of paint has been lost. The color was not fired, hence the term "cold painting." Painting was primarily done by women working at home, a typical artisanal activity. The sensual poses of young women in the Art Nouveau style were concealed by a veil that revealed everything when a button was pressed or a lever operated. Often, carefully carved animals, such as bears, could be opened to reveal an erotic figure inside....National delivery 12EUR with Mondial Relay (shop to shop) - For Belgium same conditions as FranceHome delivery for 18EURInternational delivery shop to shop (possibilities to be studied depending on destination)International delivery at home (possibilities to be studied depending on destination)All deliveries are fully insured, with very solid packaging.Fast and well-protected deliverySHIPPING WORLDWIDECheck if a Mondial Relay store is near your home, be careful, we no longer work with LA POSTE FRANCE (insulting rates, theft and uncommercial attitudes)We are able to deliver to homes with different operators DHL, UPS, Happy Post ...Mandatory shipping insurance, at the buyer's expenseWorldwide delivery possible, delivery costs are to be defined with the buyer and at his expense.Fully insured and perfectly protected delivery.The buyer chooses his method of delivery to home or to a relay point, but Insurance is mandatory.
