Description

Pair of gilded bronze and marble candelabra with two arms and white Carrara marble bases from the second half of the 19th century. Central figure of a Satyr leaning on part of a tree trunk positioned at the back and with his arms folded towards his body which supports the two candlesticks decorated with foliage and garlands. Bases in white Carrara marble decorated with gilded bronze and copper applications on the front, all supported by four small feet also worked in gilded bronze. It should be noted that the small base of a candelabra where the figure of the Satyr is placed has an old gluing restoration but is intact and that the copper decorations on the front of the bases are original but of slightly different design.
