Description

Large glazed ceramic sculpture depicting a crowned crane, likely made in the 1950s. The bird is rendered with impressive naturalism and attention to anatomical details: the distinctive crest is made of fine brass wires, the cheeks are white with red accents on the head, and the plumage is finely detailed. The base is richly decorated with colorful foliage and mounted on a later modern chrome-plated plastic base. Dimensions: height 55 cm, depth 27 cm. A striking decorative object, ideal for eclectic interiors or 20th-century ceramic collections. Worldwide shipping available on request. Please feel free to contact us for further details
