Description

This fine pair of large monochrome plates in magenta colour dates back to the 18th century.Both dishes bear on the back the mark with the crowned N that was adopted by the Ferdinandea production starting from 1788.From this moment on, a softer ceramic began to be produced and a simpler style was chosen. Our dishes depict a lake with swans, whose reflections can be seen in the water. There are some cooking defects on both dishes, which make this couple even more fascinating.Period: Real Fabbrica Ferdinandea, 18th century.Size: diameter cm. 36
