Description

Light-footed and elegant Italian mid-century console table with tall brass foot caps and powder-colored marble top. The semicircular iron console table stands on three round legs (diameter 3 cm) that transition into brass legs and taper conically to one end with a small ball. The brass legs have a small profile and are 33 cm high. The powder-colored marble top with subtle nuances in light and darker powder tones is 2 cm thick and also tapers at the edge. The table frame is 2 cm thick. The iron frame has been repainted with black shiny lacquer and has no defects. The object is delicate and graceful in its design, but the materials are sturdy and heavy. Attractive design from the Italian 1950s.
