Description

Splendid
polychrome majolica plaque, attributable to the renowned Castelli factory, located in Abruzzo (Central Italy), and dating back to around the end of the 17th century. The plaque depicts a river landscape, with a castle in the background and some figures engaged in fishing: some are standing along the banks, others are on board a boat. The great mastery of the details makes this plaque a refined and beautiful work, capable of elegantly enriching any environment.
