

Important Bronze Sculpture Diana The Huntress (barbedienne & Collas)

4 500 EUR

Signature : Barbedienne & Collas

Period : 19th century

Condition : Etat d'usage

Material : Bronze

Length : 50cm

Height : 80cm

Depth : 35cm

Description

Important Sculpture "Diana the Huntress Bronze" Important patinated bronze subject representing "Diana the Huntress" Goddess of the hunt, war and the night in Roman mythology. Diana (Artemis among the Greeks), walking, holds a small deer by the antlers in her left hand and grabs an arrow from her quiver which she carries slung over her back with the other. Diana wears a tunic, sandals, and wears a diadem with her wavy hair tied at the nape of her neck. Stamp "Réduction mécanique A. Collas" and signature "F. Barbedienne Fondateur" A Roman marble copy of "Diana the Huntress" or "Diana of Versailles", from the Imperial period (2nd century AD) resides in the Louvre Museum. The Greek bronze original was made in the 4th century BC. It is generally attributed to the Athenian sculptor

Dealer

Antiquités & Art d'Asie

Achat-Expertise-Conseil

Mobile : 06.42.77.90.30

29 bis, rue Delsaux et 2, rue des Ursulines

Valenciennes 59300

Leokares. The Maison Barbedienne, founded in 1834 by Ferdinand Barbedienne (1810-1892), is considered one of the largest bronze art companies in France in the 19th century. 19th century period, Circa: 1870. Good general condition. Height: 80cm Length: 50cm Depth: 35cm