Ecce Homo, Oil On Canva - Italian School, 17th

1 200 EUR

Period : 17th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oil painting

Width : 35,5

Height : 46

Description

Moving representation of Christ according to the iconography of the Ecce Homo, this painting features a Christ crowned with thorns, his hands tied and dressed in a red coat, symbol of the Passion. The face imprinted with softness and resignation, bathed in a subdued light, invites meditation.The work is part of the chiaroscuro tradition of the 17th century Italian school, in a style influenced by Caravaggio's darkness. The modeling of the body and the treatment of the drapes reveal a beautiful control of light,The composition, sober and frontal, accentuates the spiritual dimension of the subject.Also the restricted palette - dominated by deep browns and reds - contributes to the collected atmosphere of the scene.

Dealer

Liuzzi Fine Art

Old paintings, Sculptures and Works of Art

Mobile : +393494589542

Borgo Regale, 1

Parma 43121