Description

Rare pair of cement planters in imitation of a wooden log, period 1900 - 1920. This is indeed a real pair, the "wooden knot" on the front being located on each one opposite the other. Each section is also decorated in the manner of a section of tree branch. Each of the planters has a small circular hole on each side of its base for water drainage. Particularly interesting because of their reasonable size, ideal for decorating a balcony, a small garden, a winter garden... All the charm of an era! Dimensions: Length: 42 cm Width: 18 cm Height: 14 cm Weight: 4.6 kg / planter, i.e. a total weight of 9.2 kg Very good condition with their beautiful patina of time remaining intact.
