Description

Pair of rare gilt bronze candlesticks - First Empire period Height: 28 cm
Base diameter: 12 cm Elegant and highly symbolic, this pair of gilt bronze candlesticks embodies the spirit of the First Empire and pays a shining tribute to Napoleonic military glory. The shaft, remarkable for its composition, represents a bundle of crossed rifles, surmounted by unfurled flags, and supports a nozzle adorned with an inverted helmet with a plume of feathers - a rare and bold detail, evoking the splendors of the Imperial army. The whole rests on a finely worked circular base, an imitation of a mound strewn with grass and flowers, adorned with a laurel garland, symbol of victory. This work from the beginning of the 19th century, anchored in the style and codes of the First Empire, is aimed directly at demanding collectors and enlightened lovers of Napoleonic memorabilia. Its iconographic power, between militaria and decorative art, makes it a museum piece. The bronzier behind this creation remains unidentified, which suggests a special order, probably made for a high-ranking officer or someone close to the Emperor. ?Notice to purists: this exceptional piece is a direct tribute to Napoleon Bonaparte and his campaigns. A rare opportunity for enthusiasts of the First Empire. Regarding conditions: These candlesticks have a very beautiful original mercury gilding. Sold in their original condition, they have not been cleaned. Some wear and traces of verdigris should be noted. Firm price: EUR9,800 (non-negotiable) Careful and free delivery throughout France by Galerie De Cicco.
