Description

This oil on panel probably comes from a Dutch school, it represents an interior scene, perhaps a tavern scene. The whole is from the 19th century, inspired by a Flemish school of the 16th century. In the center we see several characters drinking, in the background women around the hearth and a dog on the left. The work is in a fair state of conservation, we report rubbing and cracking, unfortunately a small jump of paint above the characters in the center, visible in the photos. Note slight rubbing on the frame. Please detail the photos. Do not hesitate to zoom. The photos are an integral part of the description.
