Description

Southern European School, follower of Guido Reni (1575-1642): Christ Crowned with Thorns, oil on canvas, circa 1700
Description This painting depicts Christ in the scene of Ecce Homo, crowned with thorns, his gaze turned towards heaven, filled with suffering and resignation. Blood flows from his forehead and chest, emphasizing the pain of the Passion. He holds a reed, a symbol of derision during his condemnation. The frame, decorated with carved and patinated foliate motifs, accentuates the solemnity and sacred character of the work.
Format with frame 39.5 cm x 33.5 cm
Condition: Good general condition, slight age-related damage to the frame
