Description

François Lanusé. French ceramist and painter born in 1938. In the 1960s, he settled in Le Castellet in the Var region. He opened a pottery workshop, where he worked on glazing techniques and textures. He created utilitarian and sculptural pieces, marked by nuanced finishes and refined forms. He uses surface effects and contrasting materials to produce often unique creations. Work with a "Spatialist" tendency. Four elements set in a metal frame. Signature lower right. Circa 1960
