Description

Large bronze representing The Victorious Warrior. The young warrior sitting on a rock holds his sword in both hands. He is resting after having won the victory over the adversary. The bravery and nobility of the fight are symbolized by the helmet surmounted by a winged dragon. The gaze is straight, full of pride. The right foot in support protrudes from the base giving the impression that our warrior is getting up ... A black patina with a deep luster underlines the well-treated musculature, contrasting with the other elements of the sculpture, treated in a matt black patina. Signature engraved on the bronze. Old cast iron. Deep black marble groove base 5.5 cm thick. (some chips at its base)
