Description

Pair of electrified Louis XVI style girandoles, dating from the early 1900s. Made of solid bronze, they are adorned with crystal pendants and topped with a hand-cut cone, beautifully reflecting the light. Each girandole has three curved arms embellished with faux candles, offering a classic and refined elegance. Highly prized in the 18th and 19th centuries, they are now sought after by collectors and decorators for their sophisticated design and timeless style. In very good condition, they work perfectly. Weight: 2.7 kg each. Electrification to European standards and electrification to American standards on request. Measurements: 56cm (22") height and 25cm (9.84") width. Additional photos are available upon request. Feel free to contact me directly by email at:
