Cello By Carl Friedrich Lippold - Neukirchen, 1763

9 500 EUR

Signature : Carl Friedrich Lippold

Period : 18th century

Condition : A restaurer

Material : Solid wood

Length : 122 cm

Description

Authentic 18th-century cello made by Carl Friedrich Lippold, a respected luthier from Neukirchen, Saxony, dated 1763.
The instrument bears its original interior label and features a hand-carved "CL" monogram on the back button -- a rare dual signature confirming its origin.
Beautifully preserved, with no structural repairs, original varnish, and rich historic patina. Crafted from quality spruce and flamed maple, this full-size cello offers great potential for performance or collection.
An exceptional and rarely encountered example of Saxon cello making, offered in original condition. The cello needs to be restored and is as purchased Length 122 cm, sound box 76 cm, width 44 cm

Dealer

Art Classique
curiosités, art premier et Asiatique
Mobile : 0032-475272534

Bilzen 3740