Description

TABLE GAMES AND SALON FACE ANY PERIOD LOUIS XVI It opens with two circular plates, one felt packed, the other veneered mahogany. Plated belt mahogany magnifying glass is decorated with brass frame, ebony net, and has golden brass scrapers falls. It is based on five tapered legs with brass filled flutes adorned with rings and ending with roller shoes. Although it is not stamped, the cabinetmaker Chapuis is probably the running of this furniture. Indeed gaming tables of the late eighteenth century and early nineteenth century, always very carefully worked and adorned with copper, are his specialty.
