Description

These period mahogany armchairs are distinguished by soft and complex lines specific to the Restoration style. They rest at the front on molded volute-shaped legs with casters and a saber at the back. The apron is thin and discreet. The generously molded and animated crooked consoles support arched armrests decorated with rosettes. The seat and back are covered in a soft green fabric with laurel wreath patterns, in excellent condition, highlighted by a beige braid. These armchairs, designed to offer comfort, represent a classic choice for anyone who appreciates the art of antique furniture.
