Description

Six oil paintings on canvas applied on poplar panels taken from scenes of the Mysteries of the Rosary made by an artistic workshop active in the Papal State. This workshop was most likely formed under the influence of the master from the Marche Carlo Maratta (1625 Camerano - 1713 Rome) during the second half of the 17th century. The scenes of the mysteries of the Rosary are devotional works usually placed in chapels. The scenes of the mysteries of the Rosary are originally fifteen: 5 joyful mysteries, 5 luminous mysteries and 5 sorrowful mysteries. In this small collection there are 6 + 1, the seventh is a nativity that is framed within an original 17th century frame lacquered in fake marble and placed under glass. This is published in another article but is part of the group we are proposing to you. The
