Description

Very fine work from the Louis XV period, stamped Louis Moreau, master on September 27, 1764.Curved on all sides, the top in exotic wood and stained marquetry, decorated with a basket of flowers and foliage, stands out against a rounded-angle background of rosewood framed with boxwood and violet wood fillet.The canted corners are surrounded by a rosewood ingot mold.The top is sliding and reveals a writing tray lined with gilded leather with a small iron in the center, which is vertically removable, and two removable side flaps on either side in violet wood, revealing storage compartments.This curved belt forming a drawer is decorated all over with rosewood curling, surrounded by a boxwood fillet and framed in violet wood. The four curved violet wood legs, chamfered with rosewood, end
